

I first met the Little Sisters of the Poor as a girl in India. Their joyful service of the aged poor melted my heart and drew me to them.

Now, I too am a Little Sister, living in community, witnessing to the love of God by my vow of Hospitality.

Our Mission brings us into contact with many people.

The simple habit I wear is a symbol to others of my dedication to God.

Collecting is an important aspect of my Apostolate.

People will stop and ask me about it which gives me the chance to explain about my life and work. It is also a personal reminder of my consecration to God in poverty and humble service.

My community shares the daily joys and sorrows of the elderly, accompanying them with our prayer to the natural end of their life;
trying to show them the merciful love of the Heart of Christ.
